

Parkdale Community Crisis Response Network

The objective of the Parkdale Community Crisis Response Network (PCCRN) is to support community following a crisis and address concerns for safety, health and well being. A crisis is any sudden or significant incident that impacts all of some of the community.

The PCCRN cannot respond to individual emergencies.

The specific functions of the group are to:

- Co-ordinate a post-emergency response to a critical incident in the community
- Identify and involve local community stakeholders including City Services, community organizations and residents, to provide comprehensive support to those impacted within Parkdale.
- Work collaboratively on long term community safety initiatives aimed at prevention and improved community safety including, but not limited to, training education and resident engagement supporting systemic change.

The Network Working Group includes:

- Aarabon House
- Habitat Services
- PARC
- Parkdale Community Health Centre
- Parkdale Community Information Centre
- Parkdale Community Legal Services
- St. Christopher House
- City of Toronto Parks & Recreation
- Toronto Public Health

For more information about the PCCRN, please contact:

Shirley H. (Parkdale Community Health Centre) at (416) 537-0275 ext. 302

Lisa King (Toronto Public Health) 647-321-2977 / lking3@toronto.ca